

women in business

Sherri Bigby, Laurie Hightower and Jennifer Shah

Prosper

5072 N. 300 West, Provo · (800) 748-5199 · www.prospercorp.com

Since its founding in 1999, Prosper has recruited many skilled women to fill management and supervisory roles, and they continue to help the company reach new levels of success in the distance education industry.

Laurie Hightower, Prosper's quality assurance manager, started working for the company in 2007. Her experience in managing successful teams has made her a perfect fit at Prosper.

"What I love about working for Prosper is the fact that I am involved with something significant and meaningful — our entire focus is on helping people improve their lives and reach their potential," Laurie says. "We give people a reason to believe in themselves. Who could ask to work for a better company?"

Sherri Bigby is the verification and enrollment manager. Sherri joined the Prosper team in 2007 with 10 years of experience managing teams.

"I am excited to work at Prosper," Sherri says. "The challenge of working in a fast-paced, growing company means each day there is something new to confront and overcome. I enjoy working with people who, like me, want to make this company the best it can be."

Jennifer Shah has been with Prosper since 2006. In her role as director of partner accounts, Jennifer has successfully developed and strategically cultivated critical relationships between Prosper and its partners.

"Since starting with Prosper I have been amazed at the quality of people we have here," Jennifer says. "Everyone is focused on delivering the best possible product to our students, and the camaraderie is invigorating. There's something special about working with people who are passionate."

PROSPER
AT A GLANCE

Prosper was founded in 1999 and is a leader in the coaching and distance training industry. Prosper's 500 dedicated employees help people shrink the gap between learning and earning. The company has headquarters in Provo, and additional offices in Draper and Rexburg, Idaho. Visit Prosper at www.prospercorp.com.